Dear Rotary Club Members,

Thank you so much for all your hard work putting on the Grace B. Powell Spelling Bee. It's always such a well-run event and a really fun evening.

This was my fourth year competing, and I think it gets better every year. I liked that the sign-in tables were outside of the theatre this time, and my family liked being able to see the judges from the theatre seats. I also thought it made the competition more challenging this year to have to ask for homophones' definitions so we'd know which version of the word to spell. (Even though I almost blew it when I spelled "jamb" without asking for a definition, I totally forgot there was also "jam.")

I really appreciate all the hard work you put into it. Hopefully I'll see you all next year again.

Thanks again,
